Wildfire managers lift temporary fire restrictions on Dworshak Reservoir recreation lands

OROFINO, Idaho – Outdoor recreation enthusiasts can once again enjoy gathering around a campfire when staying at U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' camping areas around Dworshak Dam and Reservoir.

Recent rains and decreased temperatures prompted wildfire managers at the Clearwater-Potlatch Timber Protection Association to lift temporary fire restrictions Tuesday on all lands managed by the Corps' Walla Walla District around Dworshak Reservoir.

This includes all developed campgrounds and mini-camps, according to Deb Norton, a Corps park ranger at Dworshak. Campfires will be allowed throughout the day and must be built in established fire rings.

For more information about recreation opportunities at Dworshak, contact the ranger staff at (208) 476-1255. Information on recreation is also available on the Walla Walla District web site at www.nww.usace.army.mil/corpsoutdoors/.
